

Prof. Dr. Andreas Landmann
andreas.landmann@fau.de

Erlangen, November 15, 2022

Student assistant position for project management support

The Chair of Development Economics is looking for a student assistant for an initial period of six months (extension possibility desirable), starting in January 2023. The position is mainly supposed to support a large-scale research project on outpatient services within the “Social Health Protection Initiative” in Pakistan in administrative and project management matters.

Possible tasks

- Administrative and project management support
- Maintain the project blog
- Coordinate planning and attend monthly project group meetings
- General support tasks

Requirements

- Enrolled as a Master or advanced Bachelor student in Economics or related field (for Bachelor: 3rd semester or higher)
- Proficiency in English and German
- Ability to work independently, commitment, team spirit and flexibility
- Previous experiences in project management are desirable
- Very good or good academic achievements
- Knowledge of statistical software (STATA is a plus) and/or IT skills
- Familiarity with topics in development economics, risk/insurance, or health and basics in statistics and/or econometrics are desirable

Working hours

- ~ 20 – 32 hours/month
- Hourly pay according to standard wage

Documents

- Short cover letter (in English)
- CV including information on knowledge of statistical software and languages (in English)
- Transcript of records (completed BA and ongoing MA program)

Please send your application by email to Dr. Lisa Rogge (lisa.rogge@fau.de). Applications are evaluated on a rolling basis, but will not be considered after 30.11.2022.

You can check the project activities on this blog: <https://blogs.fau.de/inspirepakistan>. Do not hesitate to request additional information. The Chair is looking forward to your application!